Winter Wind-down at Jefferson County Park

BLOG

Winter is the season where things begin to slow down here at the park. The campground closes, grass stops growing, and programs move indoors. This is a great time to come enjoy the solitude our parks have to offer. When the leaves have gone...

Programs to Explore Iowa in Fall

November is a great month to explore all of the amazing nature that Jefferson County parks have to offer. Early in the month, fall leaf colors will be peaking and the prairies have put on their seedy hats. Animals are preparing for winter...

Spooky Season at Jefferson County Park

BLOG

October is a month when people like to think about spooky stuff. We tell ghost stories or decorate our houses with bats and spiders. But did you know that these spooky things can be found in our parks as well? Let's talk about some of the...
