Open Curriculum at MIU

Enjoy the freedom and support to shape your undergraduate educational journey
according to your passions, interests, and career aspirations.

Map your own educational journey

MIU's open curriculum is designed to let you explore diverse fields, dive deep into subjects you care about, and tailor an academic roadmap to suit your personal goals.

- No required core curriculum
- No general education requirements
- No distribution requirements
- Only two courses that all students take

You have many options to choose from

Our bachelor's majors and specializations include many one-of-a-kind programs.

Or you can design your own major and give it whatever name you desire.

Throughout your MIU studies you'll have the guidance of our experienced, caring faculty and academic advisors to help you design a personalized and transformative experience.

Only two courses are required of all undergraduate students

1. Exploring Consciousness ✓
2. Writing ✓

Begin each semester with a deep inward dive

Imagine starting each academic semester by focusing on your own personal growth.

MIU's unique Forest Academy program offers profound rest and rejuvenation. It also deepens your knowledge of how consciousness grows and shows how principles of consciousness apply in all academic fields and daily life.

The Forest Academy program takes place during the first two weeks of each semester for on-campus students and twice a year for online students. You choose from a set of interdisciplinary courses on a range of interesting topics.

You'll also have the option of participating in a TM Retreat. These are a few days long for on-campus students and a half-day for online students. These retreats feature extended periods of meditation that wash away stress and fatigue, along with knowledge that gives you deeper insights into how your consciousness grows.

After each Forest Academy, you'll return to your studies with increased clarity and energy.
